SCORE, Counselors to America's Small Business, seeks individuals interested in assisting entrepreneurs

Counselors needed in Inland Empire / Riverside area

Santa Ana, CA - "Credible, experienced and knowledgeable." These are some of the words used to describe a SCORE counselor. SCORE is a national non-profit organization comprised entirely of volunteers. The U.S. Small Business Administration counts on SCORE as a valuable resource partner. The organization has established itself as an indispensable member of the business community as well. Each year, SCORE counselors touch thousands of lives, generously sharing their knowledge and experience so that entrepreneurs can realize their dreams of business success. If you want to share your business expertise, give back to your community, gain satisfaction from seeing others succeed and connect with like-minded people, consider volunteering with SCORE.

Nationwide 10,500 men and women in 389 SCORE offices, retired and working, donate their time and talent to assist America's entrepreneurs and non-profit organizations. At SCORE, volunteers provide confidential one-to-one and team business counseling and low-cost entrepreneurial training workshops and seminars. In addition, many counselors are virtual volunteers, providing online counseling directly from their home or office. Educational services are available at various locations, including branch offices, workshop locations, and other locations of opportunity.

Counselors come from a variety of occupations and backgrounds. Many owned small businesses for years while others have worked for Fortune 500 firms.

Counselors share a belief that small business owners are more likely to succeed if they have a business mentor to guide them.

If you would like to play an important part in helping entrepreneurs strengthen our Nation's economy, volunteer for SCORE!
